

CHIANTI GRAPE STOMPING

The harvest season has always been a time of celebration in the countryside: the hard work, the cultivation sacrifices and all the efforts finally pay off with the growth of grapes and the exciting process of winemaking. The iconic scenes of girls in knee-length skirts treading grapes have become a symbol of Italy, immortalised in many classic Italian films. Before the advent of mechanisation, entire families would participate in the harvest, pressing grapes with their feet in large wooden vats. This delicate method of pressing avoids stressing the grapes and produces excellent results

This experience is highly recommended for those who want to enjoy something truly unique while capturing the authentic essence of life in the Tuscan countryside. The experience includes a visit to a winery with wine tasting and a typical local lunch. Depending on the season, guests can either pick grapes or press grapes. Discover these amazing ancient traditions and create a genuine product.

Additionally, the experience includes a visit to Castellina in Chianti, one of the iconic villages in the Chianti Classico area. Stroll around this historic hamlet, rich in culture and local craft shops. Soak in the charm and history of the region.
